☞ The PRINTER hereof will give good Encouragement to a sober Journeyman, that understands both Press and Case: And is willing to take an Apprentice, or Two.

On Friday last a sufficient Number of our new Representatives having qualified themselves to sit in Assembly, they proceeded to the Choice of a SPEAKER, and the same worthy Gentleman who was invested with that Honour by the late Assembly, was again chosen, presented to the Governor, and approved: After which His Excellency was pleased to open the Session with the following SPEECH, viz.

Honourable Gentlemen,
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen,

THE Circumstances of public Affairs are such, as have rendered it necessary for me to open the first Session of this General Assembly without Delay; and I entertain the most pleasing Persuasion, that you are come hither with Hearts so full of Zeal for the Honour of your Sovereign and the Safety of your Country, and with such a Conviction of the uncommon Importance of the present Crisis, as may give the happiest Issue to your Deliberations.

The making a proper Provision for the Accommodation of His Majesty's Forces here, as well those in the Pay of the Crown as the Provincials, and the forming such Regulations as may render the Service as easy as possible within this Government, is a Matter which I must propound to you as the first Object of your Consideration; and I doubt not, but a dutiful and grateful Sense of His Majesty's Goodness to You, whose princely Care has been abundantly provident for Your Protection, will induce you readily to concur in these Things, without which, the Strength collected for your Defence may be check'd in its Operations, and you yourselves appear less worthy of the Continuance of the Royal Favour.

I must also make it my Request to you, that you will enable me, as speedily as may be, to procure a sufficient Quantity of warlike Stores in Addition to those we now have, which is a Service of great and immediate Necessity.

The Allotment of an ample Sum for contingent Services is likewise indispensably requisite, without which it will not be possible for me to administer your Affairs in such a Manner as my Duty and your own Welfare demands, at a Period when the Exigences of Government are likely to become equally momentous and unexpected.

It is with much Concern I observe to you, that His Majesty's Arms have not hitherto been crown'd with Success: In such a Juncture, it is the Duty of every British Province throughout the Continent, and I recommend it most earnestly to you, who hold so considerable a Rank among them, to exert such a Spirit as may most effectually tend to baffle an active and powerful Enemy, and, by chearfully pursuing such Measures as the Condition of the Times and the Events of the War shall render necessary, contribute, as far as in you lies, to preserve the great and respected Name you bear, of Englishmen and Freemen, from any Diminution or Dishonour.

WILLIAM-HENRY LYTTELTON.

South-Carolina.

To His Excellency WILLIAM-HENRY LYTTELTON, Esquire, Captain-General, and Governor in Chief, in and over the said Province.

The ADDRESS of His Majesty's COUNCIL.

May it please Your Excellency,

WE, His Majesty's most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Council of this Province, now met in General Assembly, beg Leave to return Your Excellency our sincere Thanks for Your Speech delivered to both Houses at the Opening of this Session.

We beg Leave to assure Your Excellency, that Zeal for the Honour of our most Gracious Sovereign and for the Safety of our Country, shall be the ruling Principle of our Councils, and ever animate our Actions: And we hope, with Your Excellency, that our Deliberations will meet with an happy Issue.

The Care which His Majesty has been pleased to take for our Protection, most justly fills us with the warmest Gratitude. It was our Desire, to provide for the Health and convenient Reception of our Fellow-Subjects, His Majesty's Forces lately arrived, and now raising here, for our Defence; and it gave us Concern, that a proper Lodging could not be found for so great a Number in a Town whose Buildings are suited only to a few transient Persons, more than the permanent Inhabitants. We therefore receive with the greatest Satisfaction, Your Excellency's propounding, as the first Object of our Consideration, the Provision for their Accommodation: We shall, with the greatest Readiness, concur in that, and all other Regulations, which may render the Service as easy as possible.

The providing a large Quantity of warlike Stores in Addition to those we now have, and the furnishing the Treasury with a Sum for the contingent Services of Government suitable to the present Situation of Affairs, which Your Excellency is pleased to desire, are both highly necessary, and will receive our earliest Consideration.

We are sensible that Success will animate our Enemy; but, we assure Your Excellency, it will not discourage, but alarm and urge us to exert ourselves in stopping their Progress: It is thus only, under the Providence of God and His Majesty's Protection, that the Civil and Religious Liberties, the Glory of Englishmen! which we now so happily enjoy, can be delivered down to our Posterity: To effect this, we shall be ready to do every Thing which the Importance of the present Crisis demands, every Thing which our Duty and Zeal can prompt us, and our Power enable us, to perform.

In the Upper House of Assembly,
the 10th of October, 1757.
By Order of the House,
EDWARD FENWICKE.

To which HIS EXCELLENCY was pleased to return the following ANSWER.

Honourable Gentlemen,

IT is with the greatest Satisfaction I receive this Address, in which your zealous and earnest Wishes for His Majesty's Service and the Security of this Province are so conspicuously declared. I much applaud your very worthy and laudable Purpose of acting with such a Spirit in the present Posture of Affairs, and I promise myself that the most beneficial and happy Consequences will flow from it.

To His Excellency WILLIAM-HENRY LYTTELTON, Esquire, Captain-General, and Governor in Chief, in and over His Majesty's Province of South-Carolina.

The Humble ADDRESS of the COMMONS HOUSE of ASSEMBLY of the said Province.

May it please Your Excellency,

WE His Majesty's most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Commons House of Assembly, beg Leave to return Your Excellency our most sincere and hearty Thanks, for Your Speech delivered to us at the Opening of this Assembly.

In a particular Manner we thank Your Excellency, for that favourable Opinion which You are pleased to entertain of us: It is our most earnest Desire, that all our Acts may be strongly expressive of the Spirit from whence they flow, and prove, in the Issue, to all around us, that, under a just Sense of the present important Crisis, and with a serious and hearty Concern for the Honour of our King and the Welfare of our Country, we have conducted all our Measures.

We do not, we cannot, forget the many great Obligations we owe to our Sovereign: His Fatherly Care of all his Dominions has ever been conspicuous; and His Goodness to this Province, has been variously and repeatedly illustrated, with remarkable Peculiarity. With Hearts full of Gratitude to His Majesty and Thankfulness to Your Excellency, we receive the Forces destined for our Defence: A Succour so seasonably and so expeditiously granted, cannot fail to have a proper and lasting Influence upon our Affections: And Your Excellency may be assured, that, according to the State and Circumstances of the Loyal People we represent, we will readily and chearfully concur in every salutary Measure, for rendering effectual the Means of our Protection, and securing to this our Country the Continuance of the Royal Favour.

It is with much Emotion and Regret, that we behold the growing Power and conquering Arms of France. We lament the Series of Losses which His Majesty's Subjects have hitherto sustained in War: But, from the Justice of the British Cause, from His Majesty's well-known Firmness and Resolution, and the Efforts of free-born Britons, whose ALL is at Stake, We hope, by the Blessing of God, for happier Times, and more successful Events.

Most certainly, in such a Conjuncture as this, it becomes us, to be eagerly and attentively employed in the Pursuit of every Measure which can contribute to the Public Safety: With this Propensity, we now engage in the Discharge of those Duties we are called to; and in this Temper, we shall proceed to consider, the several Matters which are or may be recommended to us by Your Excellency as the Subject of our Deliberations.

In the Commons House of Assembly,
the 11th Day of October, 1757.
By Order of the House,
BENJAMIN SMITH, Speaker.

The GOVERNOR's ANSWER.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen,

I Return you my very hearty Thanks for this Address, in which you speak a Language so expressive of loyal and dutiful Affection to the King, and so suited to the present unhappy Conjuncture. It is with much Pleasure I see you warm in testifying your Gratitude to His Majesty, for the Gracious Aid He has been pleased to afford you, in which I have no other Merit towards you, than that of having been an Instrument of conveying from this Country such Matters as I conceived were of Importance to your Safety and Welfare, to be submitted to His Royal Eye. I shall always esteem myself happy when my Wishes for your Good are gratified, and depend upon your pursuing such a Conduct as may most deservedly recommend you to the King's paternal Care.

His Excellency Governor THOMAS's SPEECH, delivered to the General Assembly of ANTIGUA, met at St. JOHN's Town, Sept. 20, 1757. [From the Antigua Gazette.]

Gentlemen of the Council,
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Assembly,

I REFLECT with the greatest satisfaction on the good agreement which has hitherto subsisted between the different branches of the legislature of this island; and it has been my peculiar felicity, that there has been the like harmony in the several islands of my government.

After more than four years residence among you, I now meet you with the same regard and affection for the people committed to my care, as when I was first honoured with his majesty's commission; and I assure myself, that I shall receive from you a return of zeal for his majesty's service, and of attention to the welfare and security of his loyal subjects in this part of my government.

The expences which have been incurred for repairing and enlarging the Fortifications, for building the new Barracks, and other public services, I am sensible have been already very burthensome to the inhabitants of this island, and must be in part continued for compleating these works: But his majesty's just declaration of war against a perfidious and implacable enemy, has rendered them absolutely necessary; and no expence I am persuaded will be thought too great, for the preservation of those inestimable privileges, which are the birthright of every Englishman, however removed from the mother-country.

LONDON, May 26.

SOME days ago a French flag of truce arrived at Guernsey, to treat about the exchange of prisoners; but as that was not a proper place to come on such an errand, the governor detained the vessel, and dispatched the Fly sloop of war to Southampton, to acquaint the government with the matter, and to know what he should do, as he suspected the said vessel's real errand to be, to observe whether the island was in a good or bad posture of defence.

London, June 7. By the East-India company's ships arrived from the coasts of Malabar and Coromandel, there are certain advices, that on the death of Ali-Verdee-Caun, the late nabob of the province of Bengal, his grandson and successor, Souragee-Doulah, having made most exorbitant demands on the company for money, which not being immediately complied, march'd down in the month of June to Calcutta, with an army of 60,000 men, and made himself master thereof, together with all the settlements of the company in the province of Bengal, exercising most inhuman cruelties. The French and Dutch having seen the fate of the English, made their peace with the nabob, at the expence of large sums of money. 175 of our people who fled to the river Ganges, were taken and put into a dungeon, from whence only 17 came out alive.

London, June 18. That the armies and fleets of Russia are actually in motion, is no longer a doubt; accordingly we are informed, that orders have been sent to Sir Charles Hanbury Williams, to declare in due form to the empress of Russia, that from the moment her majesty's forces set foot on the Prussian territories, and there commit hostilities, the annual subsidy of 100,000 l. payable by Great-Britain, by virtue of the treaty of 1755, shall absolutely cease.

London, June 28. Admiral Osborn, with the fleet under his command, arrived at Gibraltar the 29th of May.

Hanover, June 21. M. d'Estrées sent lately an officer with a trumpeter to the duke of Cumberland, to demand a free passage for the French troops thro' this electorate, el electorate, with an assurance on his honour, that they should not meddle with any thing on the electoral territories, but observe the strictest discipline: But in case of a refusal, he would immediately force his way sword in hand. To which his royal highness made answer, That such a demand was directly opposite to the views which engaged him to head the army the king his father had put under his command.

Henry E. Huntington Library and Art

Dantzick, June 27. The Russian squadrons from Cronstadt and Revel, are joined, and make a fleet of 31 sail. Pillau and Memel are blocked up by sea, while the Russian forces, that have passed thro' Courland into Samogitia, are advancing as fast as possible to shut up Memel on the land side. Marshal Lehwald who continues in the same post upon the Niemen, has has extended the left of the Prussian army towards that fortress, in order to throw in succours.

Hanover, July 8. By the inaction of the French, they give the duke of Cumberland an opportunity of emptying his principal magazine at Hamelen, where no more provisions and forage will be left than is necessary for the subsistance of the garison: All the neighbourhood inhabitants are obliged to furnish 3000 waggons among them, for the greater dispatch in removing the said magazine. A considerable body of the French attempted, on the 5th, to throw a bridge over the Weser, near Loccum, but we prevented it. Some days before, another detachment of their army march'd towards Ruitelen, to possess themselves of that post, but baron Sporken was sent thither with a regiment of dragoons and 8 battalions, in good time.

Utrecht, July 7. The marquis d'Auvert is advanced into East-Frizeland with a body of French troops. And capt. Hyde Parker, of the Squirrel man of war, has made a descent at the Dollart, and burnt a great quantity of forage that was collected in the neighbourhood of Lier for the French troops.

London, July 19. There are several private letters in town, which confirm the accounts received of the French having passed the Weser without any opposition, the duke's army having retired in good order, after removing the magazines, &c. 'Tis said, that the duke's retreat is so calculated, that in it will be executed a master-piece of generalship, that is, a junction of his army with that of the prince of Anhalt-Dessau.

All communication was, on the 17th inst. forbid, by order of the empress-queen, with England, at the ports of Ostend, Bruges, and Nieuport.

London, July 21. The reason of the court of Vienna's stopping all intercourse and commerce between the British dominions and the Austrian Netherlands, we hear, is, that the empress-queen has put Ostend and Nieuport into the hands of the French, and that those two towns accordingly received French garisons last monday.

London, July 23. Letters from Dantzick of the 9th, acquaint us, that things are in the most critical situation between the Russians and Prussians. The Prussian field-marshal (Lehwaldt) is certainly in full march to attack general Lieven, who commands the first column of the Russian army.

The troops are in full march from the different camps, in order to embark on board a strong squadron (it is said) at Portsmouth. The squadron sitting out there is to be commanded by Sir Edward Hawke, in the Ramillies, admiral Knowles, in the Royal-William, and admiral Broderick, in the Barfleur.

'Tis asserted, that there are great commotions in Holland, the common people insisting on having an army sent to the Duke of Cumberland.

London, July 26. By a messenger just arrived at Whitehall, we learn, that intelligence having been brought to the duke of Cumberland, that a party of 3000 French having crossed the Weser, his royal highness detached a body of 7000 men, under general Sporken, to surprise them; who march'd in the night of the 17th with such secrecy, that the French were wholly unprepared, and having fallen upon them cut almost every man of them to pieces.

Admiral Watson, in the East-Indies, has retaken Calcutta, &c.

The French have taken Embden, and put it into the hands of the empress-queen.

London, July 28. Letters from Hanover of the 19th say, that the French continue to raise prodigious contributions in that electorate. The army of observation under his royal highness consists of upwards of 45,000 men, all in excellent order, under veteran officers, and disposed to do their utmost; and these letters add, that the duke was determined to risk a battle with the French, and that the affair must have been over on or before the 21st instant.

We likewise learn, with some concern, that the Austrians have taken possession of Hirschberg, and laid part of the dutchy of Silesia under contribution. His Prussian majesty is, however, master of both sides of the Elbe, and from the nature of his dispositions, we speedily expect the news of another action.

The garison and inhabitants of Minorca are said to be in such distress for want of provisions, as to be ready to revolt when this intelligence came away.

The garison in the citadel of Memel, have already sunk two Russian bomb-vessels, and obliged the rest of the ships to keep at a greater distance.

CHARLES-TOWN, October 13.

THE Lyttelton Privateer of this Port, is returned from a Four-Month's unsuccessful Cruize, which she performed in Concert with the True-Blue, having only drove ashore and burnt a French Packet-Boat: She parted with the True-Blue, on the 20th ult. off Cape Florida; and the same Day fell in with a Fleet of 72 Sail from Jamaica, under Convoy of the Assistance, Lynn, Sphinx, and Hornet Men of War, with whom Capt. Tedar spoke, and was by them inform'd, that they had taken a large French Ship, laden with warlike Stores, bound for Mississippi, and 3 Privateer Sloops of 8 Guns each; and that they had also drove young Palanqui's fine Brig. ashore, (mounting 16 6-Pounders, with 150 Men), the Owner of which blew her up as soon as she went ashore, whereby 135 of her Crew perished instantly, and of the remaining 15 miserably mangled Wretches that were taken up by the Men of War several more died within 24 Hours.

We hear, that the late Difference between the Occoni Indians and the Spaniards at St. Augustine, is happily accommodated, by the Interposition of Governor Ellis; and that some Captive Spaniards have in Consequence been released.

We learn from Antigua, that Admiral Frankland is gone Home; and that Commodore Moore has made a most excellent Disposition of the Ships of his Squadron for the Protection of the Trade to and from the Islands.

Two New-York Privateers, commanded by Capts. Taylor and Randall, lately put in at Tybee in Georgia, and careened, wooded, and watered there, having found a Place extremely convenient for those Purposes on that Island.

His Majesty's Ship Winchelsea is returned from the Northward, and has lost all her Masts.

The Report of Fort Edward being taken by the French, is contradicted.

But we hear, that Admiral Holbourn has been off Louisbourg, saw the French Squadron in that Harbour loose their Top-sails, and then returned to Halifax.

On the 26th ult. died at Savannah, Capt. Seth Place, who behaved very gallantly all the last War, in a Privateer, and who in private Life was always governed by Principles of Humanity and Generosity.

On the 21st of the same Month, died in Christ-Church Parish, in this Province, Mrs. Mary Hartman; remarkable for having lived to the Age of 110 Years.

Last Saturday arrived a Sloop from New-York, with Cloathing, &c. for the Forces.

The same Day put in here, the Ship Hampton, Samuel Dashwood Master, from Jamaica for London, having sprung a Leak. This Ship was taken soon after she left Jamaica, and afterwards re-taken by the Lynn Man of War, who put the Master in Possession of her again.

The Sloop Tryal, John Robinson Master, from the Bay of Honduras for New-York, is also put in here, very leaky.

Walter Izard, Peter Taylor, Robert Brown, and Charles Fancheraud, Esqrs. are the new elected Representatives for the Parish of St. JAMES, GOOSE-CREEK: We were mis-informed as to Mr. Lamboll and Mr. Mazyck's Election there. Thomas Lynch, Esq; and not Mr. Allston, is one of the Representatives for PRINCE FREDERIC'S: And Egerton Leigh, Esq; was elected in St. PETER'S. But there has been no Election in St. STEPHEN'S, nor in St. MARK'S.

RUN AWAY from the Subscriber, at Orlando, a negro woman named KATE, about 32 years old, of a yellowish complexion, hollow jaw'd, a pouting look, all her upper fore-teeth gone, and speaks good English, formerly belong'd to Mrs. L'Escott, and afterwards to Paul Villepontoux, of whom she was purchased. She is well known in Charles-Town, and it's supposed has changed her name and is harboured there (as she formerly was for 23 months together); and 'tis probable she will get into some of the negro washing-houses or kitchens, to be employ'd in them, and say she belongs to Mr. Villepontoux aforesaid. She is 7 months gone with child; and carried with her, her son Billy (a squat well-set boy about 13 years of age, who is apt to stutter when spoke smartly to), and her daughter Alce (a girl about 5 years old, with a mark in her forehead and another somewhere about her breast, occasioned by accidental burns, and silver drops in her ears. She will no doubt change her dress, but had on when she went away, a blue jacket (the sleeves scolloped) and petticoat. As this inhuman creature, when she went away, left myself extreme ill in ere bed, her mistress in another, and two of my children, not one able to help the other, she must be conscious of some very atrocious crime: I therefore humbly request every friend and acquaintance I have, in town and country, to use their utmost endeavours, in taking and delivering the said wench and children to me, or to the warden of the work-house; hereby promising a reward of 10 l. for so doing, and 20 l. to whoever will prove where she is harboured or employed. STEPHEN HARTLEY.
